HERBERGER THEATER CENTER ANNOUNCES
FREE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM – A Preview of the Musical Instrument Museum

PHOENIX – The Herberger Theater Center’s Arts Education & Outreach Department brings you a free community outreach program – A Preview of the Musical Instrument Museum with Dr. Claude Guldner on Wednesday January, 25 at 1pm.

The Musical Instrument Museum, MIM, is one of the newest museums in the Valley. It features over 15,000 instruments and cultural treasures from every nation in the world! This discussion will provide in-depth information about the MIM free of charge.

Claude Guldner, Ph.D. has conducted workshops and seminars throughout the world. He is a former musician, and collector of ethnic and ancient musical instruments and currently a volunteer docent for MIM.

Preceding the MIM programs is Lunch Time Theater’s show Phoenix: Tales from the Road, a musical featuring Annie Moscow. Patrons are invited to purchase tickets for $6.00 for the Lunch Time Theater performance beginning at 12:10pm and then stay and listen to the Preview of the MIM discussion or come at 1pm for free. The program runs from 1pm -1:45pm in The Kax Stage at the Herberger Theater Center. For more information on Lunch Time Theater or to purchase tickets, visit http://www.herbergertheater.org/lunch_time_theater

The Herberger Theater Center is a nonprofit organization whose mission is to support and foster the growth of the performing arts in Phoenix as the premier performance venue, arts incubator and advocate.
